That an effort will be made to dissuade That an effort will be made to dissuade the Readjusters of Prince George county from deserting their candidate for Congress and going over bodily to the support of Mr. Goode, the Democratic nominee, is more than probable. That it will be successful is greatly to be doubted. It is generally conceded that the contest in the Sec-ond district is between Mr. Goode and Mr. Dezendorf. The Republicans, to a man. will vote for the latter. The white people of the district know this, and as far at least as the citizens of Prince George are concerned they are not prepared, on local ues, to sacrifice such a representative as issues, to sacrince and for a Republican. Mr. Goode has made for a Republican. It was the followed in other counties in this second not

Several days ago three small boys of this city, the oldest of them about thirteen years of age, left town without the knowledge of their parents or friends. They are the sons respectively of Messrs. J. L. Buford, Melvin Martin, and Andrew Smith. Their ab sence, of course, has caused much anxiety. The only information received of them is that furnished by the captain of a schooner which reached this port to-day-viz., that some distance down the river he met three boys rowing in a small boat. It is supposed they are endeavoring to make their way towards Suffolk or Norfolk.

One day last week the boller in the sawmill of Messrs, Rainey & Powell, near Belfield, exploded, doing considerable damage to the property. The fireman, a colored man, was so badly injured that he died in a

A union mass-meeting of the Sunday schools of all the denominations of the city will be held to-morrow afternoon. The meeting is held in accordance with a recommendation from the London Sabbath-Schoo Institute for the observance of this day by all the churches throughout the world in prayer for God's blessing upon Sabbathschool workers and their work. At a recent meeting of the directors it was deeided that the terminus at Martinsville should be within the limits of said town, and that the location should be settled upon with reference to the extension of the road westward. THE GREAT DEMOCRATIC RALLY-MISSTATE-MENTS CORRECTED—GENERAL LEE AND HIS BOYS-COURT OF APPEALS-YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION STATE CONVEY-

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] Остовек 15, 1880. Staunton opened ber eyes with astonish ment yesterday morning when the people who had crowded the Opera-House and thronged the streets the night before, rising late, began to nod and talk over the account of the Democratic mass-meeting of the 13th instant as seen through the glasses of the Valley Virginian reporter; and later, when the Whig came, with its telegrams from "Valley Vidette" and "A. W. H.," wonder was added to surprise that prejudice could make a few people see things so differently from what they ever made by the Democracy of Augusta and Staunton." This was literally true, and had it not been for the Indiana news, which came in that day, discouraging to the party who was making the demonstration, it would never have occurred to Republicans or Readjusters to belittle the occasion.

But, for the facts: The crowd in the city was a very large one. The streets But, for the focts: The crowd receive was a very large one. The streets were so crowded as to make the passage of pedestrians or vehicles slow; the places of business, stores, &c., were so full as to prevent the employes generally from attending the speaking, and the proprietors of restau-rants say they fed more people than on any day during the Fair. At one small estab-ilshment, not in operation a month, the proprietor says he fed three hundred persons, and at night the writer had to push slowly through a crowd for three squares to ge to the Opera-House. The Virginian reporter, who claims to have the exact number of horsemen in the procession from somebody who had counted it, makes himself merry over the number-187. Your reporter did not count the men, but noticed that in the long stretch on Main street west of the club-room the head of the procession was out of sight over the hill while the rear was still filing by the headquarters. Only those, too, who had brought horses with them went in the procession, as it was determined that those of the visit-The exports of manufactured tobacco from this city during the week ending today amounted to 73,828 pounds.

How ridiculous and uncandid it was then for the Whig re porter to say the "Funder rally here to-day was to be 4,000 strong. The actual count is 174." The Landslip in India-STAILED ACCOUNTS OF THE TERRIBLE DISAS

A Calentia dispatch to the London Times maon district, and the summer headquar-ters of the Northwest Provinces Govern-ment, was, on the afternoon of the 18th, the scene of a terrible catastrophe. In order to understand the details it is necessary to to understand the details it is necessary to explain that the place differs in one important respect from other Himalayan sanitoria. Instead of being perched on a series of hillitops, like Simls, Mussoorie, and Darjeeling, Naini Tal lies for the most part in a small basin, the greater part of which is occupied by a lake about a mile long, and which is dominated on all sides by lofty mountains. Landslips on a small scale has mountains. Landslips on a small scale have been matters of not infrequent occurrence there, and it has been often pointed out that many of the houses were most unsafe. No serious measures, bowever, have ever been taken to prevent accidents, and up to the end of the week before last the regular inhabitants and a crowd of summer visitors continued to live in a Fool's Paradise. The station has the reputation of being the prettiest in the Himalayas. It is the only one in which lake and mountain scenery is combined. Naturally it is a favorite resort of visitors, and up to the moment of the acclubs who came by rail would creased by people running up from the follow the horsemen on their long plains to spend the antumn holidays in the the gauge showed a fail of 25 inches in forty from Isle of Wight county, and was a clever. hours. If any one could see anything funereal in that assemblage it could have been only through his prophetic vision of such as felt they had no part or lot in the matter, and saw in the spirit which moved that undaunted assemblage only mourning and disappointment for themselves in the future. They (the reporters) entirely misunderstood the demonstration, which had no lot of the streams of water pouring in every direction, but on the other side, was simply an enormous mound as been declared constitutional by the Suthing to do with the Obio and Indiana elec-tions, but was a meeting of Democratic of vast extent and varying height, a tangled mass of broken walls and roofs, fallen trees, and heaped-up earth in horrid confusion, with spotls of the shop and orderlyroom. Baltimore's Water Supply.

[The American.] The demand on the water reservoirs this week has been greater than at any time in the city's history. The daily demand was twenty miltion of gallons, while usually it does not exceed fifteen or sixteen millions. The plugs have been running daily during the hours of the procession. Yet, notwith-standing the drouth, there is plenty of water in the reservoirs, the present storage of water being eight hundred million gallons. This, however, is due to the constant working of the temporary supply, without which the city this year would have been in a rather unpleasant condition as far as the water supply is concerned. Both Druld Lake and Lake Roland are lower than pertamps ever before since 1872, when a water-famine threatened the city. Ten million gallons are being daily pumped from the temporary supply, and this, with the regular flow and the storage of water in the lakes, will supply the city for some time to come.
